LETTER FROM THE CHAIRWOMAN

Who was your mentor? I have great confidence that you will have an answer to this question within seconds. In fact, most of us can easily cite several people who influenced our lives; People who made a positive impact, helped us navigate difficult times and provided an inspirational example. When we ask our Scholars this question (and we do ask), they often answer YOU. In addition to other instrumental people in their lives, such as parents, coaches, teachers, and employers, the sincere interest that YOU have in their lives is making an important and positive impact.

The J. Wood Platt Caddie Scholarship's EMPOWER Program is making great strides in formalizing these critical opportunities and connecting our scholars with wonderful mentors within our generous community. In June, we announced the soft launch of the new Mentoring platform and have 90 mentors and 35 Scholars registered to date. With the formal program launch in the fall as our Scholars return to school (and for many, their emails) we anticipate rapid growth as we work to connect YOU with our 139 current Scholars.

Historically, most youth caddies learned about caddying from a former caddie, often a grandparent or parent. They would refer to caddying as the "best job they ever had" and drive the potential loopster to where they caddied growing up or a nearby club. Although the Trust has played a role in introducing caddying to young adults, this past year we set new and specific objectives and made measurable progress. By strengthening our relationship with youth organizations, such as the 1st Tee of Philadelphia and Snider Hockey, it has become much easier to introduce hardworking and bright young adults to caddying. Today, many of our clubs have new caddies who are extremely grateful for the opportunity. When I asked George, a new caddie at Huntingdon Valley from Snider Hockey, about his experience he said, "Caddying is awesome. I am outside, meeting really nice people and making money. It doesn't get any better than this." I also spoke with two young men, Jayden and Sean from the First Tee. They echoed similar sentiments! They also shared they are witnessing the 9 Core Values come to life when caddying. The Trust will continue to build connections with youth organizations and to play a pivotal role in keeping the oldest tradition in golf alive.

Tina Gregor along with two participants from the 1st Tee of Greater Philadelphia

We started 2021 with great insight and lessons learned from a challenging 2020. We witnessed the world around us turned upside down, and many of our daily rituals be modified or sidelined. The traditions and art of caddying was certainly threatened. Many clubs had to put their caddie programs on hold and ask caddies to be patient as creative and safe ways were explored to bring them back to the course. We would like to thank all the GAP Member Clubs that remained committed to caddying and found a path back to our fairways for our loopers.

As always, none of this is possible without you. By mentoring, taking our caddies, and generously supporting the Trust, you are helping us fulfill our mission to help hardworking young men and women with financial need afford a college education. With the support of our Club Ambassadors, GAP Executive Committee, J. Wood Platt Board of Trustees, mentors, donors, corporate and community partners, as well as the Platt and GAP staff, we can accomplish all of our goals and more.

I sincerely thank you...but more importantly, our Scholars thank you!

Gratefully,
Tina Gregor

EMPOWER

For more than 60 years, JWP has served as the official charity of GAP, supporting caddies in their traditional educational pursuits. Informally, JWP has also enjoyed the great benefit of partnerships with GAP Member Clubs and donors. In recent years, there has been a growing realization regarding the invaluable nature of these relationships and the great benefit they provide to our Scholars.

Job assistance is an obvious crucial connection. Good caddies learn how to network on the course, and it isn't uncommon for a golfer to extend an offer of future job help for a caddie who has performed well. It's often a mutually beneficial proposition, as we see that the best caddies possess perseverance, hustle and stamina; all qualities that are at the top of the list for employers.

Mentoring is another powerful component of the player/caddie relationship. Nearly every successful former caddie can point to a person who inspired or taught them along the way. These informal, but crucial relationships can be transformative for youth who are fortunate enough to find players who – while often not knowing it – serve as role models for their loopers.

And so in 2019, it was recommended by JWP Trustees that these processes be formalized to afford all JWP Scholars access to these relationships and the great benefit they provide. While the EMPOWER program itself is new, the concepts are not. By providing leadership development content with access to competent, connected and caring adults throughout the GAP network, we believe that we can provide immeasurable added value to a Scholar's grant. For Tina Gregor, JWP Board Chairwoman, the potential of the program can't be overstated. "Through the GAP network, we have access to tremendously accomplished men and women who want to help our youth. In creating this program, we're ensuring that every Scholar can take advantage of these connections."

Specifically, the EMPOWER Program includes five main components:

Community Partnerships We recognize that we need to grow diversity and inclusion among our Scholars. Partnerships with Snider Hockey and First Tee of Greater Philadelphia aim to grow the number of new caddies from underserved areas, with more to follow in 2022 (see Partnership Spotlight on opposite page).

Mentoring When we put out the call to JWP alumni to serve as mentors, we were overwhelmed (literally) by the response. In the spring of 2021, we began to connect Scholars to mentors via a formal platform.

Leadership Development and Personal Brand Webinars When we were forced to cancel our first EMPOWER Conference in August, we opted instead to offer this content via a series of webinars for our Scholars (see page 19).

YouScience™ Starting in 2020, this outstanding program is now available to our Scholars. Users explore their career aptitudes, review personalized career matches, and develop affirming language to better highlight their assets in interviews and résumés.

Corporate Partnerships Realizing that businesses of all sizes in the GAP network can offer valuable career advice and connections, we have started to formalize these.

To date, the EMPOWER Program has been enthusiastically received by friends throughout the GAP/JWP community. We are tremendously excited to see how the program evolves and how our Scholars will utilize these new tools for their benefit. We look forward to keeping you informed of our progress, and we warmly welcome anyone who would like to learn more about how they might become more involved.

The newest Platt Endowment is a confluence of the family passions that Buddy and Anna Aiken have for golf and ice hockey and appreciation for the life skills each teaches. The Aiken Family Endowed Scholarship marries the two organizations, awarding a J. Wood Platt grant to a caddie who is an active member of the Ed Snider Youth Hockey program.

Snider Hockey seeks to provide supplemental Life Skills and Healthy Living initiatives and opportunities for student-athletes of all ages. Their goal is to provide opportunities through the game of hockey, to keep student-athletes physically active, build skills, work together with others, take safe risks, build character, and develop healthy habits. Snider Hockey serves over 1,600 students through daily programming in Philadelphia and Camden and most students come from under-served backgrounds.

J. Wood Platt and Snider Hockey formed a partnership in 2020. Snider Hockey provides the candidates after an extensive vetting process and J. Wood Platt provides the necessary training and placement. Last year the program launched with 3 applicants. This year, 15 Snider participants are caddying at St. Davids Golf Club, Huntingdon Valley Country Club, Union League Golf Club at Torresdale and Tavistock Country Club. Ultimately, these caddies will be encouraged to apply for a J. Wood Platt Scholarship at which point they could benefit from educational support provided by both organizations.

"It seemed like a natural fit," said Scott Tharp, President/CEO of Snider Hockey since 2007. "We thought there were many parallels in our missions. The trend is for non-profits to work together whenever you can, particularly those in youth sport enrichments. It's worked out great."

Of particular interest is the fact that more than 25% of Snider Hockey students are female. The Snider Hockey Girls' Program features girls-only practices and teams to ensure girls are comfortable and confident while playing the sport they love. The program is led by female-only certified hockey coaches and volunteers to inspire and sustain passion for the game of hockey and instill unity for girls of all ages. By making hockey more inclusive, Snider Hockey aims to encourage the next generation of female leaders.

In addition to the financial benefits for caddie participants, the partnership is of considerable value to J. Wood Platt. "Snider Hockey is firmly committed and has a successful track record in building lives and uniting communities across Philadelphia. They have made great progress in helping narrow the opportunity and achievement gaps for under-resourced youth in the city," said Buddy Aiken, 54, of Exton, Pa., both a J. Wood Platt and Snider Hockey board member. "We are so thrilled to be able to work with such a great partner who excels in these areas as we continue to focus on improving our impact in this space as it underpins much of what our EMPOWER program is all about."

Huntingdon Valley Country Club Caddiemaster Adam Novack assists the Platt in the caddie onboarding process and had been a tireless advocate for this new program. "The synergies between golf and hockey are perfect. To me it's really around the fact the J. Wood Platt and Snider Hockey missions are so aligned. Both organizations are trying to do things with youth development in the Philadelphia area. With that commonality by coming together we can always do more collectively than individually."

Remarks Aiken, "Snider Hockey and Platt have independently been giving kids a chance and supporting positive youth development for years. We believe that this collaboration – and more like it – will allow us to create real strides in making a real difference in the lives of these terrific young women and men and their families."

THE 2020 FRANCIS C. POORE CADDIE OF YEAR

EDWARD WIERNICKI CEDARBROOK COUNTRY CLUB

Wiernicki, a senior at Penn State University, was selected as the 2020 Francis C. Poore Caddie of the Year.

“When I found out that I was going to be named the Caddie of the Year, it just blew my mind. I never thought I’d be in this position five seasons ago when I first started looping. I’m forever grateful to the Platt for all of the help they’ve given me.”

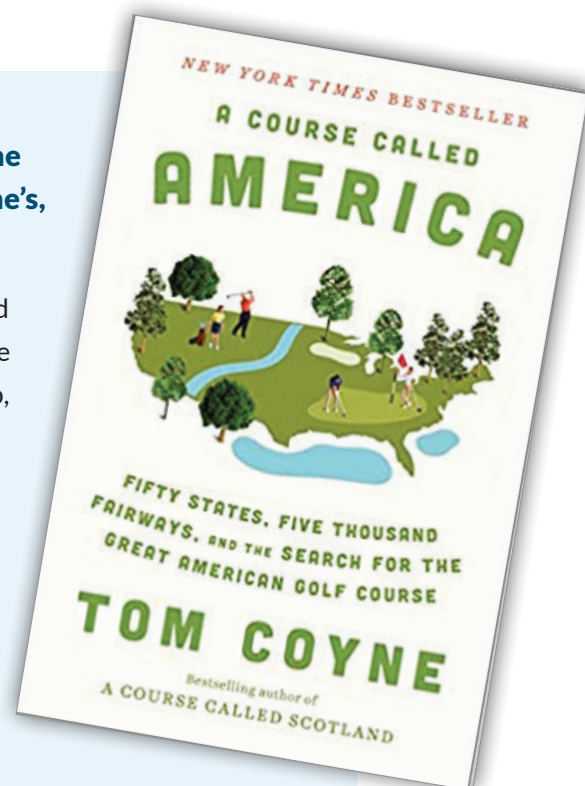

Wiernicki is an aerospace engineering major who graduated in the spring of 2021. “I applied for the Platt Scholarship immediately, and when I found out I was [a recipient], it was huge for me.

I was absolutely thrilled. Now, I hope that I can repay everything the Platt’s given me one day.”

On May 24, J. Wood Platt had the honor of participating in the celebration of New York Time’s bestselling author, Tom Coyne’s, book launch event.

The event featured the debut of Tom’s latest project, “A Course Called America: Fifty States, Five Thousand Fairways, and the Search for the Great American Golf Course.” The venue was Rolling Green Golf Club, where Coyne learned to golf as a junior member and caddie. The day included a golf tournament where JWP Scholars were able to caddie, followed by a dinner party with live music, golf challenges, and a reading by Coyne.

The Trust is exceedingly grateful to have been the beneficiary of proceeds from the auction held in conjunction with the event, raising more than $50,000 in support of our Scholars.

EMPOWER

Inaugural Webinar Series

When we were forced to cancel our first EMPOWER Leadership Conference in August, we opted instead to offer this content via a series of webinars for our Scholars.

Introduction to the Exelon Finance and Risk Leadership Development Program (LDP)

Presented by Kenzie O'Neill, LDP Manager, Exelon

Participants learned more about this highly competitive program within Exelon that prepares you for a bright and rewarding career. Scholars gained valuable insight regarding the application process and heard from a panel of current program participants.

Creating your Own Personal Brand to Achieve the Most Professional Presentation

Presented by Lauren Massey, Partner, PwC & Sean Crane, Assurance Manager, PwC

Scholars learned that their résumé and GPA are only part of the picture, as employers want candidates who understand the importance of personal brand and thorough interview preparation. Participants received guidance on how to be the ideal candidate both on paper, virtually and in-person.

The Most Important Relationship YOU Can Create – the Transformative Power of Mentorship

Presented by The Siegfried Group, LLP

This 90-minute webinar featured insight from Moderator Mark Vegh, Partner at the Global Growth Institute and included a dynamic panel discussion and conclusion from JWP Board Chairwoman Tina Gregor, by Tony Regina, Principal at College Pursuit. Attendees gained career advice and next steps regarding participation in the EMPOWER Mentoring Program.

2020 Virtual Caddie Brunch

Like many other annual events that should have taken place in 2020, J. Wood Platt’s Annual Caddie Brunch was held virtually due to COVID-19. The J. Wood Platt Brunch was premiered on Dec. 22, 2020 via YouTube. Along with our usual remarks, we also had a few very special guests make an appearance such as Andy Roddick, Edoardo Molinari, Fran Dunphy, Gary Player, Jim Nantz, Jay Bilas, Mark Fulcher, Brent Celek, Mike Davis, and Seth Joyner. Scan the QR code below to watch the 2020 J. Wood Platt Caddie Brunch.

QUIET DEMEANOR. NOT SO QUIET INFLUENCE.

by Tony Regina

Such is a resounding sentiment regarding Sean Carlin, a former Cedarbrook Country Club caddie who died unexpectedly on Jan. 24 at the age of 33.

“It was really horrible for everybody at the club, and obviously for Richard (Carlin, Sean’s father) and his family,” Paul Catinella, a Cedarbrook member since 1987, said. “We watched Sean grow up at Cedarbrook. He started as a forecaddie before he could carry. I would always request Sean. I watched the young man grow up. I got to appreciate him and his family. I was devastated. I don’t think you could have a better young man than the Sean Carlin that I knew.”

Competitive and congenial. Hardworking and humble. Passionate and polite. Steadfast and sincere. That’s the Sean Carlin all knew.

“He had the basics of an All-American young man,” Marty Jackson, who taught and coached Carlin at La Salle College High School, said.

“Sean was a wonderful young man,” Kerry Mattern, Cedarbrook’s former golf professional of 26 years and current Membership Director, added. “He was a very popular caddie at the club. He turned into a nice golfer as well through his experience at the club.”

Growing up in a golfing family, Carlin started in Cedarbrook’s Junior golf program at the age of 8. He frequently took lessons with Mattern, grasping swing techniques and developing links acumen rather quickly. His development as a golfer meshed with his ascension within Cedarbrook’s caddie yard.

“Sean was always like a ray of sunshine. He was quiet, but he had that sense of humor that if someone would say something, he would shoot out one of those great one-liners or snappy answers,” Dino Mascetti, a former Cedarbrook caddiemaster of 20 years (1987-2007) said. “All of the kids loved him because he was so darn funny. He’d be asked for a lot. He was on top of everything. He didn’t miss much that went on in the golf course. And he was a pretty good golfer himself, which made for a great caddie.”

“He just really enjoyed playing the game. He’d caddie, then head to the driving range and hit some balls. He’d go out to play as soon as he could,” Mattern, 66, of Jamison, Pa., added. “The members loved him.”

None perhaps more than Catinella, who traversed Cedarbrook with Carlin on his bag for six-plus years.

“He helped me a lot with my game,” Catinella, 66, of Blue Bell, Pa., said. “He had a quiet personality but a strong opinion when he felt that I should hit a certain club. He was helpful because he knew my type of game. I really enjoyed our time together.”

As he carried golf bags, Carlin crafted his own game, earning a spot on the La Salle College High School golf team as a junior.

“For our golf team, he was a terrific player and a great teammate,” Jackson, 62, of Philadelphia, Pa., said. “It was all about the team. It wasn’t about himself. He didn’t like to lose. He just liked to grind it out there.”

Matt Bolinski met Carlin when the two roamed La Salle’s hallways as freshmen. They bonded through golf.

“We were both extremely passionate about the game. That’s what we’d do in our free time,” Bolinski, 33, of Philadelphia, Pa., said. “Sean was my best friend. He would go out of his way to do anything for anybody.”

Upon graduation, Bolinski and Carlin went their separate ways — physically speaking, that is. Carlin attended Boston College, where he earned a master’s degree in accounting in 2010. He worked at Ernst & Young, an international accounting, tax and consulting firm, in its Commercial Assurance practice. In 2014, Carlin started at Cabot Corporation, where he soon earned a role as finance manager for corporate financial planning and analysis and investor relations.

Bolinski, who works in corporate finance, attended the University of Tampa and remained in touch with Carlin throughout college and beyond. They spoke on a weekly basis and saw one another — you guessed it — on the golf course. Trips to the likes of Bay Hill in Florida and The Country Club in Massachusetts resonate.

So, too, does the loss of Carlin.

“I was devastated just like everybody else. It still bothers me because he was such a good kid,” Mascetti, 62, of Montgomeryville, Pa., said. “Sean was always a kid who you wanted to talk to because you would always have a good conversation and lots to laugh about. Although he was quiet, when you got him engaged, then you couldn’t stop him sometimes.”

“You know that the world is a little worse of a place without him walking around, smiling,” Bolinski added.

Carlin is survived by his parents, Richard and JoAnn; brothers, Ryan and Andrew, fiancé, Gina Lynn Coburn; and many aunts, uncles, cousins and countless friends and colleagues. He and Coburn were to wed in September.

Memorial contributions in Carlin’s name may be made to the J. Wood Platt Caddie Scholarship Trust, 1974 Sproul Road., Suite 400, Broomall, PA 19008.

Although payments can be made over time, Lifetime Members are immediately recognized when they share their intent with the Trust. The funds generated from the Program are deposited in a special permanent endowment, from which only the income generated will be used for scholarships. These funds continue to provide the Trust with a crucial source of permanent funding. Contributions are most commonly made in one initial investment (cash or stock) or over a four-year period with installments of $2,500 per year. There is additional flexibility with payments for donor convenience.

SUSTAINING LIFETIME

It is understandably our hope that Lifetime donors will continue to support the Trust after their Lifetime commitment is fulfilled. To this end, the Trust solicits Sustaining Lifetime Donors to contribute $1,000 annually as Lifetime Club members. There is no annual obligation for Lifetime members to participate at this level.

NAMED SCHOLARSHIPS

J. Wood Platt Named Scholarships, (aka the Endowment Program) recognizes those individuals who wish to make a substantial and visible impact above and beyond the regular levels of giving.

An endowment is fully-funded (and thus awarded) when it reaches $50,000, but it is recognized publicly when 10 percent or $5,000 of the endowment is committed. Endowments can be established by one individual, or by a group of individuals in honor or memory of a particular cause. Donors are permitted to stipulate that the gift go toward a caddie who attends a particular school or works at a particular club (please see page 14).

SCHOLARSHIP ELIGIBILITY

The J. Wood Platt scholarship program is open to those who have caddied for at least one year at one or more GAP Member Clubs. The selection of caddies to receive scholarship funds is made on an annual basis by the J. Wood Platt Trustees. The awards are not golf scholarships and do not reward athletic ability.

The mission of the Scholarship is to meet the financial need of all applicants while at the same time preserving one of the great traditions of the game. Grants range from $1,000 to a maximum award of $10,000.

Scholarships are based on a careful analysis of a family's situation as reported on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Other factors considered include the institution's student budget, scholarships and grants received by the student and the estimated family contribution (EFC) as listed on the Student Aid Report. The main goal of the Scholarship is to attempt to meet the remaining financial need as indicated by this formula.

In addition to having a displayed financial need, all J. Wood Platt scholarship applicants are required to maintain at least a 2.5 cumulative grade point average in college and to remain an active caddie in the summer season.

As a player, administrator and benefactor, John Wood Platt was perhaps the single most influential figure in the history of GAP.

A record seven-time Philadelphia Amateur Champion and four-time Joseph H. Patterson Cup winner, Platt was the only man to serve as Association President on two different occasions, and, in 1958, a founding father of the caddie scholarship trust that bears his name.

Platt's player record is as impressive as it is expansive. His seven GAP Amateur championships will likely never be equaled and his 11 total GAP Major titles (excluding Silver Crosses) puts him third on the all-time list behind only William Hyndman, III (15) and R. Jay Sigel (13).

In addition to a lengthy list of GAP accomplishments, Platt's final great moment as a competitor was winning the first U.S. Senior Amateur Championship ever contested in 1955.

In 2008, Platt was inducted into GAP's inaugural Hall of Fame class.

Platt died of a heart attack on Dec. 8, 1959 at age 61.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR INVESTMENT IN THE

JWP CADDIE EXPERIENCE

Caddies in our program acquire a set of unique, intangible skills that help them achieve future success.

AMBITION, COURAGE, CONFIDENCE & COMMITMENT

The caddie experience instills passion and ambition in our young men and women as they must venture outside their comfort zone to be successful caddies.

HUMILITY & SELF-AWARENESS

Being self-aware is about knowing your strengths and weaknesses. The caddie experience naturally develops self-awareness and self-starter skills for our young men and women.

ADAPTABILITY

Adaptability focuses on the head and the heart. Learning how to deal with new and different challenges and adapt communication styles to be effective with a wide range of people is critical to acquiring this skill.

CHEMISTRY & COMMUNICATION SKILLS

Great caddies must learn how to build rapport, engage in a mutually respectful manner and maintain an appropriate level of goodwill and humor at all times.

THANK YOU!
